Dunbarton April 21

My dear Miss Weston, I thought the best disposition I could make of your Liberator, would be to send it to a person, who keeps a store that is much frequented, in a part of the town that is too far distant for the people to attend Lectures, and where they are not in the way of getting Anti-Slavery information. As I find it difficult to send it with any regularity, it being so far, he would prefer having it sent directly to his address. Daniel Bosworth West Dunbarton this post-office being near him. If you could have the direction altered at the office without much trouble it would oblige us much. This person takes the Emancipator but had never seen a Liberator before I thought it would do more good in this way than if given to different persons every week. Hoping that this will meet your wishes I remain yours with regard

C. Bradford.

My respects to your sister
